

Determinations – Aysha Frade

Aysha Frade was unlawfully killed.

On 22 March 2017 Aysha Frade was walking across Westminster Bridge towards Parliament Square on her way home from work. While walking on the pavement, she was struck from behind by a Hyundai vehicle which had been deliberately driven towards her. This was part of a terrorist attack. Aysha was thrown into the air and into the path of the nearside rear wheels of a bus. Those wheels passed over her, inflicting injuries which were immediately fatal. Aysha would not have suffered. She was assessed as dead at the scene by a paramedic and by a doctor.
